

Annotated Bibliography

About this Document

This document presents an annotated bibliography in support of a research paper centering on the semiotics of relationships

The format of the document appeals to a set code that can be understood by deconstructing the sections of each entry

The Bibliography

1. (T) Sex, Love, and Friendships (A) Adrienne Leigh McEvoy (P) Editions Rodopi B.V., Amsterdam (D) 2011

This book explored the relationships and differences between sex love and friendship.

2. (T) Love, Friendship, and the Self (A) Bennet W. Helm (P) Oxford University Press (D) 2009

This book Ties in the self with experiences of freindship and love, how they differ in relation to yourself.

3. (T) Group Dynamics (A) Donelson R. Forsyth (P) Wadsworth Cengage Learning (D) 2009

This book speaks on how/why we form groups as humans.

4. (T) Is that right? (A) Don Favareau, Don Corleone (P) University of Copenhagen, Denmark (D) 2017

This chapter in a book describes the nature of friendship.

5. (T) The Analysis of Semiotics of the Family Language as a Verbalized Area of Discourse (A) Iryna Osovskya (P) Cherivtsi University (D) 2018

This article describes the family dynamic and the semiotics of family.

6. (T) Beyond Friendship and Eros (A) John R. Scudder Jr. and Anne H. Bishop (P) State University of New York Press (D) 2001

This book describes how friendship differs from eros or sexual love.

7. (T) Aristotle and the Philosophy of Friendship (A) Lorraine Smith Pangle (P) Cambridge University Press (D) 2003

This book describes Aristotle's counter ideas to Plato's philosophy on friends.

8. (T) The History of the Kiss! (A) Marcel Danesi (P) Palgrave Macmillan (D) 2013

This book describes the history of the kiss! How it came about and how its portrayed.

9. (T) The Semiotics of Love (A) Marcel Danesi (P) Palgrave Macmillan (D) 2019

The semiotics of love explores the sign systems involved in living relationships.

10. (T) The Quest For Meaning (A) Marcel Danesi (P) University of Toronto Press (D) 2007

The quest for meaning is a pocket handbook on all things semiotics related.