

I am studying cognitive augmentation for musical processes because I want to find out about and contribute to cutting edge cognition enhancers for music production, composition and performance in order to help my reader understand the value of using technology and computation to extend musical capabilities of the human mind.